

Moving Out Versus Adding On

H19: 1614 Stanford Ave | Designer: Katie Jaydan
Project Type: Living Room, Addition

“Not a big deal, you just have to plan the rest of your life” – Loren Schirber – Castle’s Sarcastic Owner

The decision to move, or stay and remodel and add on can be a tough decision that affects the rest of your life.

Stay and Remodel

There are a variety of ways to invest in your home, and countless reasons to do so. In our 35-plus years in the remodeling business, we’ve seen why our clients have chosen to remodel their homes in lieu of moving. Here are some of the reasons they’ve mentioned to us:

- “We love our neighborhood/neighbors.”
- “The location is perfect for work, life, and our daily activities.”
- “Our children are well established in the school system.”
- “We’ve looked at new construction and have realized that there is more value in staying and remodeling.”
- “We love the charm and character of our older home”.

Move

At the same time some decide to move and remodeling isn’t the right option for them. Here are some of the common reasons they have mentioned to us:

- “We’re not fans of neighborhood/neighbors.”
- “We really want to be in ____ neighborhood near our friends.”
- “We want to move our kids into a better school system.”
- “Financing our remodel isn’t going to work.”
- “Remodeling our home isn’t practical / feasible or is cost prohibitive”
- “Our home isn’t the greatest and we don’t really like the style”.

Worry not, Castle can help you in either case! Our remodeling division completes hundreds of projects each year from minor upgrades like new kitchen countertops (making home livable for a few more years) to 2nd floor additions. Our Save A Castle division buys, rehabs and custom remodels older homes with charm for clients who have decided to move. Check out home H20 for an example project.
